

Find Comfort In Yourself

Midtown

How come everything
Always has it's way of turning
Right back around again
Like that night that she was leavin'
And not believing that this time
Her fears were all just doubts

I'm never going back
I'm over feeling sorry
So just deal with it
There's nothing wrong with that
Find comfort in yourself
I know that what you have's not what you are
What you have's not what you are

I know this one felt right
But every time I walk away
I feel shut down inside
Today is no exception
And tomorrow breaks again
But I can see this will soon be over

I'm never going back
I'm over feeling sorry
So just deal with it
There's nothing wrong with that
Find comfort in yourself
I know that what you have's not what you are
What you have's not what you are

I'm never going back
I'm over feeling sorry
So just deal with it
There's nothing wrong with that
Find comfort in yourself
I know that what you have's not what you are
What you have's not what you are
