Tearing pictures off the wall We took the fall Everyone could see That you don't live your life for me You live for you There's nothing I can do Tearing pictures off the wall We took the fall from truth Everyone could see That you don't live your life for me You live for you There's nothing I can do But try to Climb out the trenches I've dug 'cause I can't see underground I'm saying That I understand what it's like To be living in spite In five years from now It will all seem so trite $I\,\hbox{'m sleeping today so I can wake in your arms}\$ Tonight...