Keep Changing The World

Mikeschair

Something here is wrong There are children without homes And we just move along To take care of our own There's so much suffering Just outside our doors A cry so deafening That we just can't ignore

To all the people who are fighting for the broken All the people who keep holding onto love All the people who are reaching for the lonely Keep changing the world

Take a look around Before the sun goes out What's lost can still be found It's not too late now

It only takes one spark To make the fire burn So reach inside your heart And let this be the start

I see you changing the world! Every boy Every girl Step up!

I see the sun coming up It's a brighter day Let's show the world that love is a better way So lend a hand join the fight 'Cause time is ticking away (2x)
