

Clarity

Miles Away

The feelings that I once felt all those years ago
Somehow all got pushed aside
I lost my path and where I belong
And what I really want
I gotta find some clarity
Relight the flame that burned within my heart
So hard to find my head surrounded by insincerity
So hard to find my head living amongst the insincere
I lost my flame and I blame you
Crossed my path but now I'm back
I'll never lose direction
I'm burning bright from here on
I've got to find the light
That keeps me alive
And never let it die