Counting Down the Days

Miles Kane

```
G
                                                    Cm
 I'm counting, down the days % \frac{1}{2} \left( \frac{1}{2} \right) = \frac{1}{2} \left( \frac{1}{2} \right) \left( \frac{1}{
Love seems strange, to me
Em
Em
Excuse me, your killing me
                                                         Am
With your heartbreak and wild side
                                                                                                                                           Am
 I've been looking, for something to open my eyes
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                Am
Holding it up to the light only locks it away, heeeeey
                         G Cm
 I'm counting, down the days
Love seems strange, to me
                  Cm
To me
Em Am
Out of focus, joking with the ups and downs
Hocus pocus
                                                                                             Em
No where to be found
                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     Am
Holding it up to the light only locks it away, heeeeey
                                                                                                                                         С
Coughing excuses, the smoke and the mirrors and me
 I'm counting, down the days
Love seems strange, to me
           Cm
To me
Em
Coughing excuses the smoke and the mirrors and me
                                                                                                          Cm
                                               G
 I'm counting, down the days
                                                                                                                       Cm G
Love seems strange, to me
                  Cm
 To me
```