

Stepping Stone

Milow

We should have a word together
I think you and I
We never should have slept together
Never should have tried

We should have a word together
It's time you understand
That I think the situation
Is getting out of hand

Like a stepping stone a breaking bone
The moves we make alone
Still we pretend nothing's wrong at all
You have changed I have changed
In a different way we changed
Every step we take we're more alone

We should have a word together
I know that I said

That we were meant to be together
I wish I never had

We should have a word together
It's time we break our fall
Because trying isn't always better
Than not trying at all

Like a stepping stone a breaking bone
The moves we make alone
Still we pretend nothing's wrong at all
You have changed I have changed
In a different way we changed
Every step we take we're more alone
Every step we take we're more alone
