

Mother Earth

Miracle Of Sound

I am the cell unfolding
I am the spread
I am the first mutation
I wove the thread

I am the crash of oceans
The crush of plates
I am the constant motion
The rush of weight

I am the voice of nature
I am the breeze
I am the dancing spirit
Between the trees

I am the pull of instinct
The primal need
I am the spark inside the Technology

As you crash collide
I will be inside
Connect you all with love

All outside inside around you
I am everywhere you go you roam
Universal love has bound you
To eachother to my blood and my bones

Everything you know
All the variations vast
Fur and flesh and feather
We all play our part
In this glorious orchestra
We all sing together

As you crash collide
I will be inside
Connect you all with love

All outside inside around you
I am everywhere you go you roam
Universal love has bound you
To eachother to my blood and my bones

But your nature's tried
To break your stride
Such violence in your hearts...

And the more you grow
And the more you know
The more you search astray
Look away from lies
Take it back inside
The answer's clear as day

And every severed youth

Every rejected truth
A wound you'll never mend
Every war you wage
Every act you stage
You pull towards the end
Towards the end

Divide
Divine

You are all a part of me
Beautiful ubiquity