

Still Mine

Mishon

I really had to sit and think on this one
How could I love you so much and I still let you go?
But when you're so juvenile you ain't about how
You say you're just gonna make it work
But the danger comes when fantasies replaces your realities
Simply cause it all sounds nice
But soon enough humanity came into the picture
And that's when we had to face real life

Oh, ain't sure what to make of us
But I think that it's obvious
That you're still mine
And everything that we once were
We never got closure for
And girl you're still mine
And I know that I'm guilty of
The late nights I stood you up
When things just ain't right
So every time you pick up the phone
I know that you're still mine

I still got all the things you left here
But we both know that ain't the reason you called
You live with your choice
But the pain in your voice
Is telling me you're the furthest thing from letting go
But the danger of this friendship is
That it comes with benefits
Which is why you close your eyes
But deep inside you know the truth is
This is hardly fair to you
I should let you live your life
Woe-oh

Ain't sure what to make of us
But I think that it's obvious
That you're still mine
And everything that we once were
We never got closure for
And girl you're still mine
And I know that I'm guilty of
The late nights I stood you up
When things just ain't right
So every time you pick up the phone
I know that you're still mine

I apologize for not being there
Giving you what you needed
And I know you going through a storm right now
I know when that storm disappears
And I'm ready (And I'm ready)
You'll still be mine
You'll still be mine
You'll still be mine
Yeah (yeah)
You'll still be mine
You'll still be mine

You'll still be mine
You know you'll still be mine
