Barstool Mountain

Moe Bandy

I've finally found a place where I can take it all this loneliness you left behind.
On a mountain that's no hill for a climber.
Just one step up, sit back and pour the wine.

I climb up on barstool mountain.

High above your world where there's no pain.

And I'm the king of barstool mountain.

Pretending I don't love you once again.

At closing time I step down off the mountain. I'm strong enough to make it without you. I know that I'll be right back here tomorrow. Too weak to sober up and face the truth and...

I climb up on barstool mountain.

High above your world where there's no pain.

And I'm the king of barstool mountain.

Pretending I don't love you once again.
