

Like a Soldier

Monarchy

See the add in the paper, maybe
You could be a star desired, easy
Travel the world in style and money
All the girls, all the girls so pretty

These traps lay at your feet, you're caught in dark deceit

Your body surrenders
Your clothes they lie cheated on the floor
And you take it like a soldier would
On your back your knees it's by the book
Say no, say no for me

Knock on the door of a stranger, smiling
No one there to save you, he's checking
Eating up the phoney attention you're really something Shining bright shining bright for all to see

Your tears they're stained with makeup, when the lights go down you're all alone

Your body surrenders
Your clothes they lie cheated on the floor
And you take it like a soldier would
On your back your knees it's by the book
Say no, say no for me

Laura, why'd you go over
