

Travelling By Ambulance

Monarchy

Craving human touch
You're the sweetest curse
Open up your arms

Push me pull me down
My lips won't make a sound
Can't bare to do without

We're tied together travelling by ambulance
You arrest my heart but I knew this from the start

Too old to let it go
Too young to work it through
Just carry on with scars

Let's take off our disguise
The truth is hidden well
I found you in your eyes

We're tied together travelling by ambulance
You arrest my heart but I knew this from the start

Don't want to be all alone you can put me on life support
Throw away all the clocks, you're the light in the dark

Burnt fingers won't recover, won't recover anytime soon
So light the fire, let's run in to it, run in to it, don't want a be saved

Craving human touch
You're the sweetest curse
Open up your arms

We're tied together travelling by ambulance
You arrest my heart but I knew this from the start

Don't want to be all alone you can put me on life support
Throw away all the clocks, you're the light in the dark
