

Finally Found You

Morcheeba

I must excuse myself
'Cause I can't keep telling myself
That I should've been someone else
In a world of distraction
Something holding me back from what

I came here to be
It was too dark for me to see
What should come so naturally
In a world of reaction
Feeling is but an abstraction, but I

Finally found you
A ray of light through a fog that
Had long obscured my view
Now I'm so free I could disappear

A sparrow in a dream
Returns to its final peace
It's both seen and unseen
In a world of exaction
It's so easy to lose traction, but I

I don't know the speech
I wanna know the speaker
I didn't watch the view but I know the seer
I don't know the mind but I know the thinker
And in this world of subtraction
Love is all and everlasting, and I

Finally found you
A ray of light through a fog that
Had long obscured my view
Now I'm so free I could disappear

I finally found you
A ray of light through a fog that
Had long obscured my view
Now I'm so free I could disappear

I finally found you
I finally found you
I finally found you
I finally found you