Small Town

Morcheeba

You feel frozen
But you've been chosen
You lay there drunken
Your dreams seem sunken

Your world's a small world And you break the rules You're one big fish In a pool of fools

Tired of serving up you town Tired of wearing that crown Tired of sliding up and down Tired of being you

Your work's no future Your girl don't suit you The bar won't serve you You have no nerve to

From this sad old school
Accross the lake
Lies a place that's cool

Run you've got a place to go Run you've got a boat to row Run you've got a face to show Run while you can

The high street's sleeping As friday's creeping The shops are open But their minds are closed

How's it going but it's not their concern They talkin' stuff about you That you never learn

Smile, you're on your own Smile, 'cause you've outgrown Smile, you lost your home Smile to yourself
