

The Burden

More Than a Thousand

Laying on the floor and my eyes are bleeding. Beaten up and torn by these demons that won't let me see you face but if you still hate me know that everything that i do is for you.

Distant and reserved and i'm barely breathing, struggling to recall your image and voice in this time and place, but if you still hate me know that everything that i do is for you.

Reach for the off switch,
this is taking too long.
Reach for the off switch,
come and take me back home.

Laying on the floor and my eyes are bleeding. Beaten up and torn by these demons that won't let me see your face and if you still hate me know that everything that i do is for you.

Reach for the off switch, come and take me back. Reach for the off switch, come and take me back, back home.
