Morgana Lefay

You have awakened me From my deep lethargy Finally, you have gone too far With your deeds How many innocents have you Killed, you hands of god? You practise the evil that you Accuse your victims to conduct In the end you will be punished Into the purple eternity And I will live forever Because I can't be defeated

lt