

Ancient Prophecy

Morifade

"HALT!!...What brings you here?"

"Please let me pass, for I have an urgent message for the king!"

"My Lord, my errand here is of the outmost importance.

Evil forces of the dark side have crossed our lands and they are heading towards our kingdom as we speak...What shall we do!?

"So...They came at last...The prophecy came true...Damned!"

"Forgive me My Lord, I don't understand."

"You see, a long time ago there was an old man who told everyone:

"We shall all come to face Evil one day, it is to be many years before this happens, however...it won't be us, whom shall find It...It, shall find us...!"

Well...Arm for battle at once! And gather my knights, we shall ride at night fall.

LET THE HORNS OF BATTLE ROAR!!!"

Out in the darkness the warriors went

The knights and the sorcerers were guiding the way

After a long way they came to a plain

And sighted an army from hell must've been sent

Warriors and blacklords they all came to blows

Bloodshed and sorcery came side by side

Words of enchantment bowstrings were drawn

Voices of mourning were echoing loud

Many were wounded when morning set to dawn

The field was in chaos and still men stood proud

Screaming and crying they fought for their lives

Magic and thunder and meeting of steel in the night

...And the time has come...Ancient prophecy

Now the time has come...Ancient prophecy

It's an ancient prophecy

Ancient prophecy

After the battle few men were left

Although the victory came for the good

The old mans foretelling now had come true

When Evil's inferior the mankind will rule

Screaming and crying...

...And the time has come...

"At last, all evil had vanished and the people had prevailed

To achieve victory in life, one have to fight for his cause and never be oppressed

So...Evil was beaten...At least for now..."