

No Trace

MS MR

Come here in the duality of time
The things I feel now I never thought I'd find
I wonder if our future was written in our past
I was your first taste, would you be my last

My world split in two
I had to prove I didn't think
I didn't know I could do it without you
Do it without you.

Envision me on the frame
Lost in the rules we made to our own game
I crawl myself through black holes
To wind up at his door
More than eyes to find
Didn't believe it wasn't worth the fall

My world split in two
I had to prove I didn't think
I didn't know I could do it without you
Do it without you.

We built paths, have every right to breathe
I had to prove I didn't think
I didn't know I could do it without you
Do it without you.

No trace of where
Now fully realized this fear
Did destroy or deny what maybe you once felt inside
Skin crawls and filled with land
Terror hands and rarely spread

My world split in two
I had to prove I didn't think
I didn't know I could do it without you
Do it without you.

We built paths, have every right to breathe
I had to prove I didn't think
I didn't know I could do it without you
Do it without you.