

So Strong

Murray Head

When the falling night casts a shadow across my heart
As you reach for the light, can't find comfort in the dark

If I caught your eye would I see the brightness beginning to fade ?

If I read your mind would I keep the memories from fading away?

In our innocence we were children trying to heal
When we closed our eyes secret worlds could be revealed
You went walking out to a wonderland
With my heart in your hands Reaching out in the distance, left our dreams in the sand.

It was so strong - it was so strong,
and love never loses, love is so strong.

It was in our sights, now it seems so far out of reach
I keep looking behind, losing reception
- the signals are weak
And the pieces lie scattered on the ground
In the shape of my heart
I can't find the connection, lost my faith in the stars.

It was so strong - for so long.
Love never loses, love moves on. It was so strong - that we're just holding on They say love never loses, love is strong.

And I feel like I'm falling
And my spirit is leaving.
