

Placed On Hold

Mutemath

Field of shock
Full of echoes from when the world stopped
Saying what a shame
Cause our picture's bigger than the one that got framed

Trailing through all the cobwebs
Daring to call it God's will

Early to rise
Your star is beaming tonight
Counting on days yet to go
All placed on hold

Colors gone
From the pathways that we used to walk along
In a crystal rain
We're part of a canvas that the dawn will come to paint

Sunshine is out for the first time
A gold stage for our rehearsed life

Early to rise
Your star is beaming tonight
Counting on days yet to go
All placed on hold

I know we'll walk the last mile together
And I know we'll have a home in forever
I know we'll walk the last mile together
And I know we'll have a home in forever

I know we'll walk the last mile together
And I know we'll have a home in forever
I know we'll walk the last mile together
And I know we'll have a home in forever

I know we'll walk the last mile together
And I know we'll have a home in forever
