

Something Happens to Me

Nancy Wilson

Something happens to me
Every time I feel that you are near
A strange kind of chemical change goes rushing through me
I know that mysterious glow means you'll appear

Then, darling, something happens to me
In you arms
When I feel you're trembling too
I can tell you've been caught in the spell that I am under
We gaze into each other's eyes in breathless wonder
To see that when something happens to me
It happens to you

Something happens to me
In you arms
When I feel you're trembling too
I can tell you've been caught in the spell that I am under
We gaze into each other's eyes in breathless wonder
To see that when something happens to me
It happens to you
