

The Joke Is On You

Natalie Cole

One of these days, you'll be crying
If you don't stop all your lying
Why do you just keep on trying
You're breaking my heart
I'm so confused, what can I do
But I refuse to be broken and blue
It's time that you heard the news
The joke is on you, baby
The joke is on you

You're gonna be, oh, so lonely
Set the table for one and one only
If you think I'll be back
You don't know me and you never will
Though I am sad, I've been here before
My eyes are dry, I'm not crying anymore
It's your turn to be in my shoes
The joke is on you, baby
The joke is on you

The joke, joke, joke, is on you babe
The joke's on you
The joke is on you, baby

I felt so ashamed
You're not the same
And talking loud, movin' fast
Never, never thought
I'd have the last laugh
It's your turn to be in my shoes
The joke is on you, baby
The joke is on you, honey

The joke, joke, joke, is on you babe
Sorry, baby
The joke's on you
The joke is on you
Joke's on you now, baby

Sorry, baby
The joke, joke, joke, is on you babe
Oh, yeah
The joke's on you
The joke is on you
Oh, sugar, sugar

The joke, joke, joke, is on you babe
Baby, ooh, ooh...
The joke's on you
The joke is on you
So sorry...
