I Will Bury You In Time

Neutral Milk Hotel

I will bury you in time When the sea begins to slide Into this hole where I am smiling on your shoulder You have buried my beliefs Where all you sisters sleep That there scent the purity will make When the youth is over Standing in some Oct - October

And I am breathing into you It makes your features move And they shimmer like balloons that fly above the ocean All the world is waiting here You can hear the children cheer But they'll need you when you're near The brink of complete implosion Crown your king when your life is broken

Everything you are I'm tearing through Everything you want I'm wanting too I gave you more than I thought I could ever do But I will never break you

And if I was the king of all the kids You'd you hear me singing in my spit But all you would hear is the shit inside my burnt emotions I will bury you in time When the sea begins to slide Into this hole where you and I will sing our songs unbroken As the water starts its chokin' Dee dee dee dee [etc.]
