

This Longing

Neverending White Lights

This endless longing as it was before
And all my angels came alive once more
They said, "Hey, you in the dark"

Another day spent in a broken shell
And all my demons they know all too well
They said, "God, you take your soul"

This life was meant to take from your breath
Away

They said, "Hey, you in the dark. In the dark."

I seem so empty
My endless longing goes on
I'm living like I'm lost these days
