

Saving Grace

NewSong

Without direction I walk the night
I was alone, a single beam of light
One glance and You changed my world
To a prism of light
You opened my eyes

I want to go wherever You lead
And tell the world everything You've done for me
How You cam into my heart when
My whole world was falling apart

You are my saving grace
You are the light of my love everlasting
And I find my hiding place in Your arms
My one and only saving grace

I fought the world with a restless heart
Deep inside there was a cold and empty part
Then You came to build me up
When the world could only tear me apart

For the rest of my life
I can count on You
To never let me down
You whisper to me
You give me strength to believe
That I can hold on somehow