

That's What Mercy Is

NewSong

It's a blue sky morning
It's a new day dawning
It's a million miles from a past that's haunted you forever

It's a prayer that's answered
It's a second chance for
A life you never ever even dreamed that you could live

That's what mercy is
It's the hand that reaches down and lifts you up again
No matter where you've been
That's what mercy is
It's the voice that's calling out come back home again
You can come back home again
Picture waking up to find that you're brand new
That's what mercy is

It's the word forgiven
Shouted straight from heaven
To a heart that's broken
From the only one who'll make it whole again

It's a song of freedom
Sung for all who'll listen
There's a door wide open
Saying all you weary souls come right on in

That's what mercy is
It's the hand that reaches down and lifts you up again
No matter where you've been
That's what mercy is
It's the voice that's calling out come back home again
You can come back home again
Picture waking up to find that you're brand new
That's what mercy is

It's a cross, it's a grave, it's a stone that's rolled away
It's three nails that held the price for all our sin
It's a Father, it's a Son, knowing something must be done
It's the greatest gift of love that's ever been
That's what mercy is
