

A Dream Without Pain

Nicole Atkins

I woke up from a nightmare to a dream
All that I have learned from defeat
Its all been such a blur
The devil's had his turn
And may my path be lit up by the bridges that I've burned

Say goodbye to Santa Fe
You and I will never be the same
Goodbye to sorrow and to blame
I want a dream without pain

I woke up from a nightmare to a dream
Riding shotgun in the mercy seat
It's all been such a blur
But now I've found the nerve

And may my path be lit up by the bridges that I've burned

Say goodbye to Santa Fe
You and I will never be the same
Goodbye to sorrow and to blame
I want a dream without pain
Ellum's deep and Austin's low
You can stay there but I have to go
You can stand there in the flames
I want a dream without pain

I woke up from a nightmare to a dream
The most beautiful dream
