

Start Over Again

Nicole C. Mullen

I find myself looking at you
A stranger I thought I knew
Harsh words came like a dart
Sharp arrows pierced my heart
Then I said some things out of spite
And so I should apologize
And now I ask you please
If you could forgive me

And let's start over again
Let's start where we began
Back when time made us younger
And we love much stronger
And every road led us to me and you

Rome wasn't built over night
Our love's gon' take some time
Until what we have dreamed
Is our reality

Let's start over again
And let's start where we began
Back when time made us younger
And we love much stronger
And every road led us to me and you

'Cause I will never deny, I love you
And no matter how I try
I miss the laughter
Happily after
Each time we come to an end

Let's start over again
Can't we start where we began
Back when time made us younger
And we love much stronger
And every road led us to...

Let's start over again
And let's start where we began
Back when you held my hand
As we raised and descent
You whispered my name
And erased all my pain
I said I was sorry
You told me you loved me
And every road led us to me and...

Find myself looking at you
A stranger I thought I knew
