

My Door Is Open

Nitzer Ebb

you knew the story when we very first met i look at you and see what i cannot forget pour out another and i'll light a cigarette open that wrap and we'll be friends again yet my door is open you can come when you like my door is open you can stay here all night but promises i make for your consideration you take your chances with a one night stand it passes time although the conversation's bland if you use your friends and then their friends too in the end the only one who's really used is you

my door is open you can come when you like

open your world and the duplicity of you and you will find you've got the sympathy of few so settle in and find the stories that you tell will wrap you up inside the nightmares that you dwell

my door is open you can stay here all night my invitation is for your deliberation please don't condemn me because of my situation i know you've spoken and you hate reiteration
