Woke up on the ground, i've thought "the earth is round" so what about this new day on my way is there anything new, what are we gonna do? woke up in the silence then i've heard that song

and a voice said

"this is not a bad joke this message's done for you you've got to work hard more and more for the holy economic war".

but it couldn't be no hallucinations then i've read the story of the new nations lord it's just as you please, i get down on my knees god, it's wonderful to find the meaning of life

and a voice said

"this is not a bad joke this message's done for you invade the whole world dont forget the new password everybody sings you have no choice in the matter i'll become your blessed manager you've got to produce more and more for the holy economic war".

business force...
marketing...
careers...
success...

oh holy yeld, oh holy hell