

Forcing Hands

Nonpoint

You think it's as easy as flipping a switch I'm flipping out trying to figure out this problem of keeping my wits I can't tell you why I'm risking it all just to stumble and call it what it is The excession of excess dressed like it's got a bold statement to make We gotta take it for good feeling not praised for somebody to lie to see another meaning inside

So how can you
ever understand
when nobody's forcing hands here You've been pointing that finger for way to long it's time to point it back at yourself

You're frozen [x2]

The obsession awakening to compare 30,000 hands in the air so who you trying to convince? and I sure do read just like this you said I really shouldn't live like really shouldn't let that really gotta get my life together before the door closes But how am I the one out in the cold here when you're the one frozen

So how can you
ever understand
when nobody's forcing hands here
You've been pointing that finger for way to long
it's time to point it back at yourself

You're frozen [x3]

So how can you
ever understand
when nobody's forcing hands here
You've been pointing that finger for way to long
it's time to point it back at yourself

So how can you
ever understand
when nobody's forcing hands here
You've been pointing that finger for way to long
it's time to point it back at yourself

You're frozen [x2]