

Take Apart This World

Nonpoint

It was the very last time
A person could only take so much
Before they lose their minds
Before they go and break the rules and touch
Some places that we're not allowed to touch
And say some things we really shouldn't say
To each other

Not even on the worst days where our lives have gotten so interrupted by
The same old thing you try to hide!

I want to take apart this world around me
And hand the pieces all away
I want to shatter all the ground beneath me
And watch the pieces fall away yeah

Every man for themselves
As we both watch it all collapse
Touching all the memories on the shelf
Falling cry for help
Into places we have trouble getting to
I have buried all the memories of you
And I

Right along with the bad days
where our lives have gotten so difficult that I
Gave up on even caring why

I want to take apart this world around me
And hand the pieces all away
I want to shatter all the ground beneath me
And watch the pieces fall away yeah

And hand the pieces all away yeah
And hand the pieces all away yeah
Same old thing you try to hide!
Same old thing you try to hide!

Right along with the bad days
where our lives have gotten so difficult that I
Gave up on even caring why

I want to take apart this world around me
And hand the pieces all away
I want to shatter all the ground beneath me
And hand the pieces all away