

What I Meant To Say...

Nora

I remember everything you said to me,
I remember every laugh you laughed at me,
I remember how you used to look at me,
I remember everything you did to me,
I remember a decade later,
My neck still hurts from staring at the floor.
I always wanted to see myself run in slow motion.
What I meant to say.
What I meant to do.
What I meant to say.
It's my turn.
What I meant to do... to you.
You never let the weak go by.
You never let the small man walk.
A decade later, my heart still hurts from staring at the floor.

I always wanted to see myself run in slow motion.
I want ten years you took from me. I'll remember until the day I die.
I never let that memory go.
