

The Old Town's Inn

Northland

When nightfall comes and covers our land
The last ray of light fades far away
Moonlight reigns up in the sky
Thousands of spirits won't sleep tonight. No!!!

The gates of a new world opened for a while
No sadness, no fears shall pass.
Death and sorrow we leave behind.
our laments soon will be past.

There's a light in my town
that never fades away
There we'll spend the rest of our days

Raise your pints!
Take a swip!
This is the old town's inn,
where endless nights are drown in beer,
where pain and sorrow disappear.
Raise your pints!
Take a swip!
Sing songs of victory,
drink for those who are not here
until the stars disappear!!!

Time has come for the spirits of the land.
The moonlight spell is about to end.
A distant light shines far away.
The sunlight brings a new day.
