

Forgive Me

Nural

I share the burdens carried on the heart of one in need knowing
I'm weighed down as well
And I don't question my direction but intentions for this savin g
Slowly losing this heart

And now what have I done
My reach, falling short just when you needed me
And I won't bring myself to care
Forgive me I rely on my own knowing
And we see where it's taking me

I share the burdens carried on the heart of one in need knowing

I'm weighed down as well
And I don't question my direction but intentions for this savin

Slowly losing this heart

Now what have I done
My reach, falling short just when you needed me
And I won't bring myself to care
Forgive me I rely on my own knowing
And we see

That this bridge, is burning and I don't wish to smother it, bu t get warm
This bridge, is burning and I don't wish to smother it, but get warm

And now what have I done
My reach, falling short just when you needed me
And I won't bring myself to care
Forgive me I rely on my own knowing
And we see

Lord what have I done, my reach obtaining only that which could end me
So don't be caught in crossfire
Forgive me I rely on my own knowing
And we see where it's taking me
