

Make way for the few left of their kind
If any are left at all?
Cuz it's not the same
In this day and age
I'm sure they prefer to stay in sum
One thing we love more than heroes to hail
Is watching them fail

But I believe, there's a hero inside of all of us
Waiting to show the world what they have

Hold on just a second longer
I'll get to you if gravity wouldn't mind
And bend the rules tonight
You knew it was never wrong of me
To see myself up there with heroes in flight
May this world be aligned
Cuz god knows there's enough wrong any(way) without the high, c an you show?

But I believe, there's a hero inside of all of us
Waiting to show the world what they have
And I believe, there's a hero inside of me somewhere
The question is does she, and will I prove to be it?
Just say my name, and I'll be there to save you

Cuz I know
Destiny lies, far beyond
Oh...
Where I need it most, but I will Go...
Where my heart leads
Don't you ever turn your back on love
Ohh...

I believe, there's a hero inside of all of us
Waiting to show the world what they have

I believe, there's a hero inside of me, yeah
But does she?
And will I prove to be it?
I hope so

If there's an opportunity (yeah), will I choose to seize it?
Just say my name and I'll be there to save you
