

Buried Alive

O-Town

Show me the way, the way to your soul
I'll show you the dream that I had to let go
I've been too long, been too long on my own
But I'm gon' walk down this road 'til the light in your heart leads me home

Far too much weight on my shoulders
Not enough strength to move on
I can feel my blood running colder, now your gone

I'm gonna love you down 'til there's nothing
You've got me in the fiery lines
'cause you love to say yes, you love to say no
You're the glare that can turn a man to stone
Girl I'm buried alive, you're the hardest hand I've had to hold

Still I'm alone (still I'm alone)
With no way to say (no way to say)
No one to follow (no one to follow)
Only these words in my head
There's no direction but I know where I'm at
I'm gon' cross all the lines 'til there's nothing else holding us back

Far too much weight on my shoulders
Not enough strength to move on
I can feel my blood running colder, now your gone

I'm gonna love you down 'til there's nothing
You've got me in the fiery lines
'cause you love to say yes, you love to say no
You're the glare that can turn a man to stone
Girl I'm buried alive, you're the hardest hand I've had to hold

Yes, I'm buried alive, you're the hardest hand I've had to hold
I've got to learn to survive with the hardest hand I've had to hold
