

Within demise, I rise and fall
In profound abysm, I surrender
Down and below, I dwell in rapture
Shrouded in misery until I fade

I fall from grace - I drown in black
I ascend in light - in mourning
As a solar eclipse

Above and below, I drowned in gloom
An everlasting bloom, the final dawn of inner strife

An immersed enigma, has come to pass
Engrossed contender, a pitch-black mass
Consumed by twilight, emerging blackness
Veiled in agony, herewith I fade

I fall from grace - I drown in black
I ascend in light - in mourning
As a solar eclipse

Above and below, I drowned in gloom
An everlasting bloom, the final dawn of inner strife

In spiritual abyss, a burden of untold
Devoured, dissolved, in esperance unfold

I fall from grace - I drown in black
I ascend in light - in mourning
As a solar eclipse

Above and below, I drowned in gloom
An everlasting bloom, the final dawn of inner strife

Above and below, I drowned in gloom
An everlasting bloom, the final dawn of inner strife