

Voiceless demise
We disperse in grief and pain

Gone our past, forgotten, vanished at last
Relieved, appeased in faith
Our stars align, septic, fouled divine
As fatalist, as nihilist I disappear

Arise, condemn, and liberate our might
Conjure eternal sight
Alive and vivid we evoke eternal light
Infinity, heavenly and bright

In unity, in sanctity evolved unbound
In purity, in decency emerged profound
In an age of enlightenment, our final confession made
A spiritual odyssey, this eternal journey begun

We leave, we leave this shattered earth
In misery, we forsake this forlorn place
We leave, we leave this perished world
In agony, we resign and fall from grace