

If I was fearing the world I'd be generous
In habit the world seems to feed what I need
And in a separating ground pulled apart from me
Where's cause me I erase everything

When we were first born
The liquid covered our bodies it harder to breathe
Without a clue in the world
Our fathers poisoned their wives and the life that he made for me
Are you afraid of us
This isn't a place for us your body is surely as sad as can be
Wish I could feel again
The sadness will never end Invited forever we sleep

Sleep

Hail deliverer the skin the skin will peel off of me
Hail deliverer the skin

If I hadn't meant to live
If I hadn't meant to live what would I give
I had a part of you
You were a part of me and now it doesn't exist

If I hadn't meant to live
If I hadn't meant to live what would I give
I had a part of you (I had a part of you)
You were a part of me and now it doesn't exist

If I hadn't meant to live
If I hadn't meant to live what would I give
I had a part of you (I had a part of you)
You were a part of me

If I hadn't meant to live
If I hadn't meant to live what would I give

In hell we decide In hell we decide

Hiding in the lines of the sand with the old blood I'm dying and living alone in a home with nothing I'm nothing
And I mean it
And I saw the afterlife you had a reason to be
You had a reason to be and now their all alone
We'll all be living (we'll all be living)
And if they eat us
They'll only show us their life is broken in pairs
With the old love I'm extending my way as a full blood in this life
