

In birth
We lose them to sudden defects
Our minds are not open yet
And all all the time you had growing out of your seed
And all all the life you had you'll finally see

There's no there's no life here
We welcome you to the world
In fascinating views we consume you you will all be alone

You're breathing like you did you never wanted to Always gonna lose
When no one's there for you
You're barely human yet
We thought we'd see you soon
We'll all abandon you
We're always gonna lose

There's no there's no life here
We welcome you to the world
In fascinating views we consume you you will all be alone

You're barely human you're barely human
You're barely human you're barely human

Those who says theres nothing after
Well they're all ghosts
And none of them will matter

Those who says theres nothing after
Well they're all ghosts
And none of them will matter

There's no there's no life here
We welcome you to the world
In fascinating views we consume you you will all be alone

There's no there's no life here
We welcome you to the world
In fascinating views we consume you you will all be alone
