

You said you loved me after five days
Told me I was made for you, I felt the same way
I knew I want you first time we met
Then I didn't realize there was more than just sex

Right away on the same page
Really didn't think you were making mistakes
So soon, I felt betrayed
Told you from the get-go all I need is the truth

Strike one, strike two, a thirty one hour
I put my heart on the line, no room for doubt
Strike one, strike two, a thirty one hour
The strike's already happened, so you better watch out

Still love you, want to give us a chance
Nobody else touched me that way
Show me you want me, actions speak louder than words
Why you keep repeating if you know that it hurts?

Strike one, strike two, a thirty one hour
I put my heart on the line, no room for doubt
Strike one, strike two, a thirty one hour
The strike's already happened, so you better watch out

Strike one, strike two, a thirty one hour
I put my heart on the line, no room for doubt
Strike one, strike two, a thirty one hour
Don't fuck it up this time, I'll burn up your house