

Hard to Love

Old Crow Medicine Show

Well, it's hard to love and not be loved
It's hard to please your mind
When you've broken the heart of many a poor boy
But you'll never break this heart of mine

Can't you see that lonesome ship that sails
That sails from shore to shore
If I was on that lonesome ship
I'd sail away no more

Well, it's hard to love and not be loved
It's hard to please your mind
When you've broken the heart of many a poor boy
But you'll never break this heart of mine

Well I wish I was a pretty little bird
I wish I was a pretty little bee
I wish I was so far away
No more you'd see of me

Well, it's hard to love and not be loved
It's hard to please your mind
When you've broken the heart of many a poor boy
But you'll never break this heart of mine

The blackest crow that ever flew
Will never turn to white
If you will prove your love to me
I'd turn my day to night

Well, it's hard to love and not be loved
It's hard to please your mind
When you've broken the heart of many a poor boy
But you'll never break this heart of mine

Oh Lord
No you'll never break this heart of mine
