

Lady in white

Olympos Mons

I was calling your name
Out loud in the night
The wind held its breath
But the answer never came

You come and you go
Like a ghost in my mind
So mysterious
Your name they say is
Only whispered in shame

Where dark shadows rise
In the forest of ice

An angel dressed
In the whitest lace
I'm curious
Did you float through my life
Like a whisper on the wind

You touched my world
With an iron thorn
I'm furious
But I don't want to fight
Just give up and I'll give in

Where dark shadows rise
In the forest of ice

There's a lady in white
A shooting star in the night
Singing and dancing her
Way into my heart

There's a fire burning bright
On a midwinter night
Bewitching and blinding
My soul right from the start

Your song once released
The sudden spring
Like a falling rain
I was under your spell
And time just slipped away

You took my hand
And you spoke to me
I was healed again
By those whispered promises
I was led astray

Well I spoke my mind
It was anger and hate
But you calmed me down
Years went by and I never got away

Now I'm trapped inside

Your magic world
It's much too late
For a moment of love
It's the price I have to pay

Where dark shadows rise
In the forest of ice

There's a lady in white
A shooting star in the night
Singing and dancing her
Way into my heart

There's a fire burning bright
On a midwinter night
Bewitching and blinding
My soul right from the start