Seasons

One Less Reason

Hows it feel, hows it feel to be left out there in the smoke, in the cold the midnight air

Does it hurt, does it burn to be unaware of the torture of a white lie

I don't know where you are so why do I care I know we're both even so whys it feel unfair

Some say that four seasons are enough for a lifetime of change I hope when you think of me you remember the love that I gave (when our seasons change)

Hows it feel can you deal with the rise and fall of a life that ignites like a mirror ball and I wonder are still afraid of the dark

I don't know where you are so why do I care I know we're both even so whys it feel unfair

Some say that four seasons are enough for a lifetime of change and I hope when you think of me you remember the love that I gave

This is the life I left behind This is the memory of you Thats still embedded in my mind

Some say that four seasons are enough for a lifetime of change and I hope when you think of me you remember the love that I gave

(when our seasons change) (when our seasons change)
