

Time

One Less Reason

Every moment marked with affliction
I love your faith I love your sin
Everyone was looking for a way out
All we wanted was a chance to get in
Did they know how these words would cut you?
Did they know what they put you through?
I don't really care to live forever
As long as I can be with you

I was there when you were born, in every life that you lived before
10,000 years or more, time will always bring me back to you
Hold your hand when you've had enough
I'll pull you through when you're given up
I'll be the air that fills your lungs, time will always bring me back to you

So I kept my opinions quiet, heard every word they said
They told me about the fear of God and how I better find a savior quick
Did they know that the fear would change you?
Did they know it would set you free?
I don't care to live forever
As long as you stay with me

I was there when you were born, in every life that you lived before
10,000 years or more, time will always bring me back to you
Hold your hand when you've had enough
I'll pull you through when you're given up
I'll be the air that fills your lungs, time will always bring me back to you

I don't care about them I just want you

I would burn the world then hide the truth
If they come for you, if they touch you

I was there when you were born, in every life that you lived before
10,000 years or more, time will always bring me back to you
Hold your hand when you've had enough
I'll pull you through when you're given up
I'll be the air that fills your lungs, time will always bring me back to you
