

Untouchable

One Less Reason

Oh, I've been waiting for this moment, I'm not accepting your apologies
Tried to get a read from the look in your eyes but you all look the same with me
And I been known by the feelings that never stay too long
Couldn't hear anything that you said, 'cause your words, they only come out wrong

And if you don't know me by now, I was never gonna change
And if you don't know me by now, I was gonna never let you go
If you're wondering if I'm dead, yes, but I'm still breathing
I hope it burns you to know, I'm untouchable

I'm still waiting in the darkness, coordinates unknown
I told you one day I would live with you, or I'd live with your ghost
You're still giving me your reason, but you never came clean why
Always talking down the side of your mouth, but you had the heart to try

And if you don't know me by now, I was never gonna change
And if you don't know me by now, I was gonna never let you go
If you're wondering if I'm dead, yes, but I'm still breathing
I hope it burns you to know
Came back like Lazarus, and I'm scared, I'm aware that my heart's beatless
I hope it hurts like to know
I'm untouchable
I'm untouchable
I'm untouchable

You can have the ceiling
You can put your fist out and lower your head down
You can call it treason, now
I can never, I can never go away

And if you don't know me by now, I was never gonna change
And if you don't know me by now, I was gonna never let you go
If you're wondering if I'm dead, yes, but I'm still breathing
I hope it burns you to know
Came back like Lazarus, and I'm scared, I'm aware that my heart's beatless
I hope it hurts like to know
I'm untouchable
I'm untouchable
I'm untouchable
I'm untouchable

I'm untouchable
