

Price Of The Kings Ticket

One Minute Silence

Early morning sits with me and her words are kind
Nothing seems to lift the soul like time
Some wake up in dreams that we can't buy
And we're holding on for somewhere better

Early morning sits with me and her words just blind
Nothing seems to move the air like time
Some wake up in hell and their whole world dies
And we're holding on for somewhere better

Grass is always greener, are you blind?
Bet you're always first in line for nothing
Happy ever after, stand in line
Have your pain, I don't want it

Read between the bloody lies
Tell me you can hear them laughing
Ours is not to reason but to die
Fuck our noble men and masters

Ever get the feeling you've been had
Suffer little children, that's it
Not that dream you dreamt when you were bad
The picture isn't perfect is it?

I have seen enough to know I know
The screaming never stops, just listen
Tell the king and all his spineless whores
They will know of our existence

Jesus I'm in love with nothing
Save yourselves you fucking clones
Insignificant my nothing
Save your breath, you're nothing more
Climb your prison walls until you're
High enough to know your nothing new
Insignificant little shit
I hate your fucking, hate your fucking
Nothing

All is getting better are you blind?
Bet your son is not a soldier is he?
Stand behind your master and his line
See it, see it, never witness

Ours is not to reason but to die
I can't hear no words of wisdom
Still the buried sons of war
Turning underneath the kingdom

Ever get the feeling you've been had
Suffer little children, that's it
Not that dream you dreamt when you were bad
The picture isn't perfect is it?

I have seen enough to know I know
The screaming never stops, just listen

Tell the king and all his spineless whores
They will know of our existence

Jesus I'm in love with nothing
Save yourselves you fucking clones
Insignificant my nothing
Save your breath, you're nothing more
Climb your prison walls until you're
High enough to know your nothing new
Insignificant little shit
I hate your fucking, hate your fucking
Nothing