Idols Are Out

Oxymoron

You're posy styled to impress somebody You're out for fame and loads of money But selling out is nothing new You've hit the charts with a boring tune

[chorus:]
Idols are out today
They pose a single night

A polished heap and birds so pretty You sold your soul but you deserve no pity You'll climb the steps if you're of use If not you're dropped like all the others

I won't sign with their major companies Enslaved to contracts, what a piss I won't beg them on my knees For we still play mohican melodies
