

Another Life

Paddy and the Rats

Months ago since last we've talked,
as I came below your window.
There's only shadow once you've walked -
you have faded into dark.

You'll get wizen, you'll get white,
but passing time won't quench my lust.
Keep my washed out dreams of you
and a big hole in my heart...

So, I could pretend that it hurts me no more,
I could say it's better all alone, or
I can lie "good you've found someone",
but it makes me crazy - on and on, and on...
So for you:

I sing my last song while you're leaving.
Seems like my last chance to say goodbye.
I'm in pieces and time's not healing...
Hope to see you in another life.

We lived and loved as much we could - didn't regret any moments.
You gave me wings to fly with you,
but on the hollow sky they broke.

So, I could pretend that it hurts me no more,
I could say it's better all alone, or
I can lie "good you've found someone",
but it makes me crazy - on and on, and on...
So for you:

I sing my last song while you're leaving.
Seems like my last chance to say goodbye.
I'm in pieces and time's not healing...
Hope to see you in another life.

I sing my last song while you're leaving.
Seems like my last chance to say goodbye.
I'm in pieces and time's not healing...
Hope to see you in another life.