You open a window to my soul
You open a channel through my heart
The sun is sinking through the sea
My life has gone back to the start

I see my face in yours
I see my smile in your eyes

So now the years are rolling on
I know that this won't last forever
I'll fill your sails with my love
Then I will be with you for all time

I see my face in yours
I see my smile in your eyes

And so I hope when I move on
That you will understand this song is for you
And it would make me oh so proud
To know you know how much you mean to me

I hope you see my face in yours
I hope you see my smile in your eyes
When the time comes to say goodbye
